3. INFORMATION ABOUT THIRD PARTIES

- 3.1 In the course of your dealings with us you may provide us with personal information relating to third parties, including but not limited to details of your next of kin and emergency contact(s) (as applicable), beneficiaries (stated on an expression of wishes form); and employment references.
- 3.2 We will use this personal information in accordance with this Notice. If you are providing personal information to us relating to a third party, you must have the permission of the third party to share such personal information with us and you must make the information in this Notice available to the third party.

4. HOW DO WE USE THE PERSONAL INFORMATION WE COLLECT ABOUT YOU?

There are some general things for which we use your personal information. We use the information for communications to you, to make determinations, to provide support, and to perform legal, compliance and other administrative activities in connection with your current, perspective or former employment with us. The types of general uses include:

- record keeping, statistical analysis, internal reporting and research
- hosting, maintaining and otherwise supporting the operation of our websites and other communication platforms, and helping to customize and improve your experience with our websites and other platforms
- to investigate or otherwise address complaints made by you or disputes between you and us
- detecting and preventing fraud or other criminal offenses;
- risk management
- business and disaster recovery (e.g. to create back-ups)
- network and information security
- monitor your use of our information and communication systems to ensure compliance with our IT policies and the standards of conduct expected of our employees, interns, workers and contractors
- document and data retention/storage

We also use personal information to help us establish and maintain a relationship with you, through things like:

- creating an account(s) with us or for identification purposes
- making a decision about your recruitment or appointment and determining the terms on which you work for us; assessing qualifications for a particular job, including decisions about promotions; assessing your fitness to work (for employees, workers, apprentices, interns and job applicants)
- paying you and, where we are obliged to, deducting tax and social security contributions; conducting salary reviews and making decisions about compensation (including discretionary bonuses and equity grants); providing benefits to you
- to comply with our procedures in relation to grievance or disciplinary proceedings and to make decisions on disciplinary sanctions and whether grievances should be upheld (this may involve your personal information being used as evidence in such processes (for example through notes of meetings/statements you give as part of the process)
- monitoring attendance
- administering the contract(s) that we have entered into with you (where relevant)

- conducting your performance reviews, managing performance and determining performance requirements (in relation to employees, apprentices, interns and workers, except agency workers)
- Compiling directories (for example of staff company telephone numbers, email addresses, staff photographs and job titles)
- providing education, training and career development requirements
- checking you are legally entitled to work in the United States and the State of California
- communicating with you during and after your employment or services
- contacting next of kin in an emergency situation (this may not apply to contractors)
- ordering products or services from us
- processing a payment at your request or on your behalf
- confirming your authorization of transactions

When you use our websites, or third-party platforms or applications, we collect Identifiers, Additional Identifiers, Electronic Information and Geolocation Data about your usage of the service for:

- personalize your experience with us
- enabling your use of the services available on our sites, applications or platforms
- contacting you about our products, services or other news that may be of interest to you.

We use Geolocation Data (which may be collected from your personal or company computer, devices, or telephone; and your use of our applications or platforms):

- to identify where you are contacting us from
- to determine compliance with applicable company policies

We may be required to collect your personal information to comply with our legal requirements, to enable us to fulfil the terms of any contract that we have with or in preparation of us entering into a contract with you.

5. CRIMINAL RECORDS INFORMATION

- 5.1 We will only collect information about criminal convictions if it is appropriate given the nature of the role and where we are legally able to do so. Where appropriate, we will collect information about criminal convictions as part of the recruitment process or we may be notified of such information directly by you in the course of you working for us.

6. HOW AND WHEN DO WE SHARE PERSONAL INFORMATION WITH THIRD PARTIES?

6.1 We may share your Personal Information with members of our corporate group in order to provide the products and/or services or information that you have requested. We may also share your information with other members of our corporate group for the purposes of IT support and maintenance, internal governance and administration, and to comply with our legal or regulatory obligations.

6.2 We will not share your personal information with a third party outside our corporate group, except:

- when you permit us to do so
- where you have instructed us to share your personal information with third-party sites or platforms, such as social networking sites (please note that once we share your personal information with another company, the information received by the other company is controlled by that company and becomes subject to the other company's privacy practices)
- when parties perform services on our behalf, like product delivery, marketing and advertising, customer service, IT services and solutions (e.g. providing data storage, assisting us with database management) or rebate fulfilment. These companies are prohibited from using your personal information for purposes other than those requested by us or required by law
- when we share your personal information with third-parties in connection with the sale of a business or to enforce our terms or rules

6.3 We may also share your personal information with:

- our accountants, auditors, lawyers or other professional advisers when we ask them to provide us with professional advice
- any other third party if we are under a duty to disclose or share your personal information in order to comply with any legal obligation; to protect the rights, property and/or safety of the Cooper Group and others; or in other cases if we believe in good faith that disclosure is required by law
- any other third party for the purposes of acting in accordance with the requirements of a court, regulator or government agency, for example, complying with a court order or acting in accordance with an applicable law or regulation. However, nothing in this California Privacy Policy is intended to limit any legal defenses or objections that you may have to a third-party's, including a government's, request to disclose your personal information
- to address fraud, security, or technical issues

We do not share, sell, rent, or trade personal information with third-parties for their commercial purposes.

7. HOW LONG DO WE STORE PERSONAL DATA?

7.1 It is our policy to retain your personal information for the length of time required for the specific purpose or purposes for which it was collected (e.g., for the fulfilment of an agreement with you). However, we may be obliged to store some personal information for a longer time, taking into account factors including:

- legal obligation(s) under applicable law to retain data for a certain period of time (e.g. compliance with tax and accountancy requirements)
- the establishment, exercise or defense of legal claims (e.g., for the purposes of a potential dispute)

7.2 If you would like to find out how long we keep your personal information for a particular purpose, you can contact us at: dpo@coopervision.com or ccparequests@coopersurgical.com.

8. HOW DO WE PROTECT YOUR PERSONAL INFORMATION?

8.1 We implement technical and organizational security measures to protect your personal information against the risk of loss, misuse, or unauthorized alteration or destruction. Such measures may include the use of firewalls, encryption (where appropriate), access rights management processes, careful selection of processors and other technically and commercially reasonable measures to provide appropriate protection for your personal information. Where appropriate, we may also make backup copies and use other such means to prevent accidental damage to or destruction of your personal information.

8.2 Please note that where you are transmitting information to us over the internet this can never be guaranteed to be 100% secure. For any payments which we take from you online we will use a recognized online secure payment system.

9. CHANGES TO OUR NOTICE

9.1 Any changes we make to this Notice in the future will be notified to you by email or otherwise via team briefings, the intranet or noticeboards. The updated Notice will take effect as soon as it has been updated or otherwise communicated to you.

This Notice is effective as of January 1, 2020.
